Dear Dr. Green,

I know you're committed to helping suffering people. I know, because you're a physician.

And that's why I'm writing this letter to you.

Right now physicians sharing your commitment are treating some of the neediest people in the world. Most of them serve in mission hospitals. Maybe you know someone from Med School who went off to do that.

Like you, they're dedicated. But unlike you, having the medicines and supplies to treat their needy patients depends on charity. And too often there's not enough.

It's because of this the board of directors of Medical Assistance Programs International formed the Physicians' Fund. It gives physicians nationwide the opportunity to support the work of physicians serving in 450 hospitals in 75 Third World countries.

What's more, the Physicians' Fund matches your contribution with 10 times its value in essential, FDA-regulated medicines and supplies. They're donated by 200 U.S. health care companies.

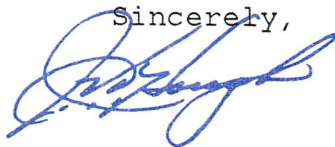

Your contribution pays for distribution expenses only. Every $100 you give provides $1,000 worth of donated supplies.

The board includes nine physicians and five academic and business professionals.

As a physician and chairman of MAP's board, I'm proud to say U.S. physicians provided $2,200,000 worth of urgently-needed medical supplies overseas through the Physicians' Fund last year. This year I'm asking you to help double it, because there's never enough.

Please give to the MAP International Physicians' Fund. Fill out the response slip and send it with your check.

Sincerely,
